The New York, Newfoundland and London Telegraph Company, to whom it was consigned, sued the Board of Underwritets in London to recover this insurance, the Undewriters paying $69,000 and renouncing all claims to the cable. Some two weeks since parties were sent on from New York by the New York, Newfoundland and Lundon Tolegraph Company, to make efforts for the recovery of the cable, and at Case Breston they chartered a vessel for the pourpose, with the result as above stated. A MURDURUR'S COPPIN.-The Sucramento Union says the coffin of Cora, who was executed at San Francisco by the Vigilance Committee, was of solid mahogany, and lined with rich white satin. The sides were covered with gilt seroll work, and the edges bound with gold lace, studded with silver units. A silver plate, bearing his name, age and time of his death, was placed upon the lid. The coffin was furnished by Belle Cora, a woman of character, such as it is, to whom the unfortunate man was married a few moments before his death.
